Weather Architecture By Jonathan Hill

Weather Architecture further extends Jonathan Hill's investigation of authorship by recognising the creativity of the weather. At a time when environmental awareness is of growing relevance, the overriding aim is to understand a history of architecture as a history of weather and thus to consider the weather as an architectural author that affects design, construction and use in a creative dialogue with other authors such as the architect and user.

Environmental discussions in architecture tend to focus on the practical or the poetic but here they are considered together. Rather than investigate architecture's relations to the weather in isolation, they are integrated into a wider discussion of cultural and social influences on architecture. The analysis of weather's effects on the design and experience of specific buildings and gardens is interwoven with a historical survey of changing attitudes to the weather in the arts, sciences and society, leading to a critical re-evaluation of contemporary responses to climate change.

Editorial Review

Review

"Architecture of Regionalism in the Age of Globalization is a welcome contribution to the much-needed further exploration of the historical roots of regionalist tendencies in architecture." ? Eric Storm, Institute for History, Leiden University, the Netherlands

"...the author provides a profound analysis that is rooted as much in natural science, philosophy, and literature as it is in the history of art, architecture, and landscape design." ? Jakob Schoof, DETAIL Green, Germany

That is why this book appropriate all of you.

Marcella Cook:

As a student exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some book, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Weather Architecture can make you experience more interested to read.
