Editorial Review

About the Author

John W. Santrock received his Ph.D. from the College of Education and Human Development at the University of Minnesota. He taught at the University of Charleston and the University of Georgia before joining the faculty at the University of Texas at Dallas. He has worked as a school psychologist and currently teaches developmental psychology and educational psychology at both the undergraduate and graduate levels and introductory psychology at the undergraduate level. Dr. Santrock's research on father custody is widely cited and used in expert witness testimony to promote flexibility and alternative considerations in custody disputes. His research has included publication in the Journal of Educational Psychology that focus on the contextual aspects of affectively-toned cognition and children's self-regulatory behavior as well as teachers' perceptions of children from divorced families. He recently was a member of the editorial board of Developmental Psychology and his publications include these exceptional McGraw-Hill texts: CHILD DEVELOPMENT, Eighth Edition; LIFE-SPAN DEVELOPMENT, Seventh Edition; CHILDREN, Sixth Edition; PSYCHOLOGY, Sixth Edition; and EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY.

Kayla Wilson:

As a student exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart and soul or real their interest. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Child Development: An Introduction can make you sense more interested to read.
